Convincing hesitant users

We've included some tips for how to convince hesitant individuals to embrace new technology.

DisplayNote Launcher

Cast a compelling vision

Create a vision that is inspiring and easy for employees to support. Explain how the technology will benefit their work and make their lives easier. Seeing the end goal and the vision behind it can motivate individuals to adopt new technology.

Show empathy

hat change can be difficult and empathize with those who are hesitant to embrace new technology. And be patient - everyone learns are their own pace.

Find a champion

Look for individuals who are already enthusiastic about the new technology and ask them to help promote it to others. Let them demonstrate how the technology works and encourage them to spread the word.

Highlight quick wins

Often new technology is brought onboard to solve problems and improve work life. Highlight a few areas examples of how small changes using new solutions can make a big impact on daily life.

Offer incentives

employees who embrace new technology and encourage others with incentives and workplace benefits. Workplace rewards can reduce the stigma around learning new workplace practices.

Useful links

If you've got any questions or would like more information, use the links below.

Book a lesson →

Help with Launcher →

DisplayNote Launcher